How does it work?

When you book a long haul holiday with us, we take care of the airport transfer booking automatically. Two weeks before you travel, we confirm all the arrangements, from pick up to return collection, luggage space and any preferences you may have for drinks etc. Our system sends you a Booking Confirmation, and you'll receive an SMS to confirm that your chauffeur is en-route. We use a virtual number that diverts to your mobile phone, to keep your number private. You can track your chauffeur, and you will be given their phone number. Once your Chauffeur is en-route, you can call them, receive updates, the information of the selected vehicle and instructions on where to meet them at the arrivals lounge.

Each vehicle is well maintained and your chauffeur will be wearing a business suit, shirt and tie. Depending on the vehicle we use, our free Wi-Fi means you can either read the news or catch up on your emails whilst we cut through the traffic. We track all flights and will be at the airport as your flight lands. The time taken to collect your luggage and come through passport control can vary from a few minutes to an hour, but you'll have the security of knowing your chauffeur is waiting for you as you leave the arrivals lounge.

All the vehicles and chauffeurs are fully licensed and insured and will have documents available to view. Several of our chauffeurs have also gained membership of the prestigious Guild of Professional Chauffeurs. Our network of partners include coach companies for large groups, sports travel specialists as well as private airports for plane and helicopter transfers. Our limit is your imagination and budget.

The Costs

We don't charge for the luxury chauffeur service for couples on cruise or long haul holidays. We believe that you should start your holiday the moment you walk in and book it with us and know that it will start from your door in style. We also offer a private hire service for couples booking short haul holidays. From as little as £69 return, we know we offer the most competitive rates to Manchester and Liverpool Airports.

So when it comes to holidays, Global Travel Worldwide are leading the way with fantastic holiday deals, airport transfers and everything in between to make sure you get the most from your holiday.
